COLLECTION

Natuzzi Editions introduces SENSE,
a new generation of sofas where technology,
design and the senses come together to create a more immersive way of living.

At the heart of SENSE is a new interpretation of relaxation, bringing together immersive sound,
vibration, heated seating, air massage, zero gravity, integrated controls, lighting, wireless charging and smart features. Technology is seamlessly integrated into the architecture of each sofa, becoming almost invisible until the moment it is activated.

Pulse

Pulse brings a more dynamic interpretation of immersive comfort, where technology responds to the way we choose to relax, connect and spend time. Its distinctive silhouette conceals an advanced world of experiences, combining zero gravity, Zero Wall, dual motion and triple motion with immersive sound, vibration, heated seating, air massage, lighting and wireless charging. At the centre of the sofa, an integrated console brings control intuitively into the experience, while smart features and even a refrigerated compartment make the space around you part of the comfort. Technology responds. Comfort follows. You simply settle in.

Paddock

Paddock draws its inspiration from the reassuring, enveloping shape of a saddle — a form designed to contain the body and create a feeling of protection. Its high back, closed base and generous rounded volumes create a powerful sense of enclosure, transforming the sofa into a private retreat within the room. Then the experience begins. Zero gravity, immersive sound, vibration, heating and air massage surround the body, while integrated controls, lighting and wireless charging bring everything within reach. Paddock is not simply a place to sit. It is a place to withdraw into.

FAQ

1. What is the amplifier class and power output?

The system uses a Class D amplifier with 178 W RMS and 348 W peak power.

2. What are the impedance, power output, and efficiency of each speaker, including the subwoofer?

The tweeters and midrange speakers are rated at 13 W each, with an impedance of 4 Ω , while the subwoofer is rated at 30 W, with an impedance of 4 Ω .

3. What type of Bluetooth connection is used, which version is supported, and which external devices are compatible?

The system uses Bluetooth 5.4 and is compatible with all recent Bluetooth-enabled devices.

4. What type, class, power output, protocol, and compatibility do the wireless chargers have?

The wireless charger is Class 1 and uses the Qi standard. Its maximum rated power is 10 W.

5. What are the guidelines for the proper use of the beverage cooler?

This product is a cooling unit, not a refrigerator or thermostatic chamber. At an ambient temperature of 25°C (77°F), it is designed to maintain temperatures between 5°C and 15°C (41°F–59°F). Actual performance may vary depending on ambient conditions.

Do not use the unit to store dairy products or other perishable items.

C368 PLUME

NATUZZI EDITIONS

Plume

The new PLUME sofa introduces an extra-deep seat, redefining the way you settle into comfort. Designed to let you stretch out, sink in and truly let go, it brings a more informal and instinctive attitude to relaxation. Soft, squared volumes and gently rounded corners give it a distinctive presence, while relaxed upholstery allows natural folds and subtle wrinkles to emerge with use — making softness part of its character. Designed to embrace a slower, more indulgent way of relaxing, PLUME brings depth not only to the seat, but to the entire experience of comfort.

«Extra depth» seating

! Leather version starting from cat. 25

The leather version of the Plume starts from Category 25, as the deeper and wider seating requires a larger leather surface. This allows us to maintain clean, well-proportioned lines and an overall appealing aesthetic, while also avoiding additional stitching that could compromise the visual continuity of the design.

Optional large cushion

An optional oversized cushion adds a touch of sophistication while providing versatile additional back support wherever needed.

Optional lumbar cushion

An optional lumbar cushion further enhances the model's versatility and can be used to provide additional lumbar support.

«Extra depth» seating

Designed for unhurried moments, this contemporary lounge sofa invites you to sit deeper, stay longer, and truly switch off. Its generous proportions and extra-deep seating create an enveloping sense of comfort, giving you room to stretch out, curl up, or simply sink in and relax.

The Plume brings a relaxed sophistication to the room. The extra depth is its defining feature — a little more space to settle into, a little more freedom to lounge, and a whole lot more comfort.

Innovative filling

The model Plume is filled with a combination of foam, fiber and microfiber.

The microfiber is an innovative, high-tech polyester made from recycled PET bottles and certified according to the GRS (Global Recycled Standard).

Designed to faithfully replicate the softness of natural fibers, with a look & feel similar to feather, it stands out for promoting free air circulation ensuring high breathability.

Thanks to its excellent elastic recovery, the Plume maintains its comfort and resilience properties over time, delivering long-lasting performance and an outstanding quality feel.

Charme

From its very name, the Charme sofa evokes a presence that needs no words to be noticed — an essential style expressed through gently rounded edges, flowing volumes, embracing shapes, and visual and tactile softness. Every curve is designed to convey a timeless appeal, shaped by slow gestures, deep glances, and a comfort that feels unmistakably like home.

With a wide range of modular elements that can be composed into a true personal relaxation system, it creates contemporary configurations that naturally adapt to different lifestyles. Its modularity is made of encounters — elements that come together to form compositions defined by softness and wellbeing.

Detailed arm side panel

A distinctive diagonal cut on the outer side panel creates a striking design signature, adding movement and character to the sofa while enhancing its modern, tailored look.

Modularity

All versions are finished on the sides and come without connectors to be used as single “free standing” elements.

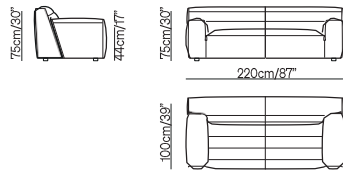

The individual elements have rubber stops beneath the hidden legs and can be combined modularly, positioning them side by side.

OREGON NEXT

Cat. 15

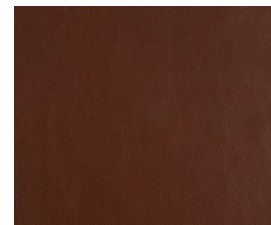

Oregon leather features a “sauvage” effect and a glossy surface that combine robustness with rustic elegance, making it ideal for traditional or casual designs. Natural markings—such as wrinkles, scars, grain differences, and slight color variations due to individual hide finishing—are completely normal and do not affect the product's exceptional durability.

Please Note:

These two new added codes/colors are a new version of Oregon with less sheen and a slightly different “sauvage” effect.

DESCRIPTION:

Venosa is an ultra-soft chenille fabric, designed to provide a cocooning sense of comfort and a rich texture to the touch. Its high elasticity allows it to adapt precisely to sofas of any shape, enhancing both curved and linear profiles.

Equipped with an easy-clean treatment, it is designed to simplify everyday maintenance.

H2Oh! technology (water repellency and stain resistance) allows most common stains to be easily removed using simply a damp cloth, ensuring practicality without compromising performance; it is particularly effective against typical household stains such as food, beverages, or grease, helping to preserve the fabric's original appearance over time.

The H2Oh! treatment is designed to be long-lasting, maintaining its easy-clean properties even after repeated use, and is ideal for high-traffic environments such as living rooms or family spaces.

Combined with the softness and elasticity of chenille, it offers both comfort and functionality, ensuring a durable, easy-care upholstery fabric over time.

KEY FEATURES:

- OEKO-TEX certified, therefore synonymous with sustainability and environmental responsibility throughout the entire production chain.
- A "high-performance" product in terms of cleanability, as it features the H2Oh! treatment, meaning that household stains can be removed using only water.

! IMPORTANT NOTE:

Being a highly elastic fabric, issues may arise with the stitching on thicker sections. For this reason, the VENOSA fabric will be open exclusively to certain models (Sofas / Chairs / Ottomans).
